Records include two daily logs of business and numerous examples of brochures, letterheads, and receipts printed by the company. Of special interest is a program from the memorial service honoring the death of President Ulysses S. Grant in 1885. Also, three catalogs of products offered by Clarke & Courts for furniture and grocery sellers and office supplies. The third oversized item is a visitors log signed by locals and out-of-town people who attended The Galveston Cotton Festival in 1912.
